Hopes For Quick Cease-Fire In Korea Blasted

Such Is Opinion Of Top Washington Officials Is Report

By JOHN A. REICHMANN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, July 11.—Top Washington officials indicated today that the Communist five-point armistice program has blasted Allied hopes for a quick cease-fire in Korea.

These officials pointed out that while the Red proposals for an immediate cease-fire do in some respects parallel the United Nations plan, there are some glaring differences.

The Communist suggestions for a cease-fire and the exchange of prisoners were said not to differ greatly from the views of the UN top command.

Red Proposals

However, the Reds may have put a big stumbling block in the path of a quick cease-fire when they proposed:

1. The withdrawal of foreign troops in shortest possible time.

2. The restoration of civil administrations in Korea to prewar status.

3. A demilitarized zone six miles north and six miles south of the 38th Parallel.

These points met with immediate resistance among the 17 UN nations fighting in Korea.

Moreover, it was pointed out that some of the proposals made public by radio Moscow were political—not military—in nature.

The UN members take the stand that they are willing to discuss the political questions—but only after a military agreement has been reached with the North Korean Communists and the Chinese Reds.

Extensive Discussion

Even though both the Reds and the UN nations desire a demilitarized zone, the UN nations desire a demilitarized zone.

Coalition In Command In Action On Controls Bills

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, July 11.—Administration forces seeking to strengthen economic controls legislation appeared today to be losing command of the House to a GOP-Southern Democratic coalition.

Representatives from farm-cattle areas seemed to be firmly in the saddle in the wake of a test of strength which left administration supporters highly pessimistic over the final outcome.

The coalition victory came on the adoption of a ban against livestock slaughtering quotas which administration forces claim will encourage black market operations.

New Air Battle In "Mig Alley" Occurs Today

Three Red Planes Shot Down And Fourth Damaged

EIGHTH U. S. ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, July 12.—(Thursday)—(I. N. S.)—More than 60 American and Communist jet fighters tangled over northwest Korea Wednesday in a 20-minute dogfight and three Red MIGs were shot down and a fourth damaged.

By DON DIXON
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

EIGHTH U. S. ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, July 11.—American Sabrejets shot down three Communist MIGs and damaged a fourth in a 20-minute battle near the Korean-Manchuria border today.

Air combat in "MIG Alley" was renewed after a one day gap Monday in a series of dogfights between American fighters and Russian-type MIG-15 jets.

Over the weekend, Allied planes shot down or damaged eight enemy planes but there was no combat Monday during poor flying weather.

The Wednesday battle ran the total of enemy planes destroyed or damaged in a period of five days to 12 including seven destroyed and five damaged.

Ground Contact Light

On the ground, contact with the enemy continued light and opposing patrols nudged each other, apparently jockeying for position preparatory to an awaited cease-fire.

But talks of an armistice had no effect on punishing Allied air strikes.

Fifth Air Force light B-26 bombers roared through cloudy skies during the night to pound five enemy airfields in Western Korea and also the Sopo railroad marshaling yard north of Pyongyang, the Red capital.

The jet battle took place near Sinuiju which lies just across the Yalu river from Manchuria. The bombers struck at points farther south and hit Sunan, Sinanju, Pyong and Kawangju air fields.

New fighter-bombers reported they attacked 200 Red supply vehicles in North Korea and destroyed or damaged more than 50 of them.

Increase Made In Draft Call For Two Months

Calls For 35,000 In August And 34,000 During September

By DARRELL GARWOOD
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, July 11.—The Army's sharp increase in the draft for August and September was seen today as a warning to the country that there is to be no letup in the program to build the armed forces to a strength of 3,500,000 men.

The new calls for 35,000 draftees in August and 34,000 in September compare with only 15,000 this month and 20,000 inducted in June.

Defense leaders have repeatedly expressed fear that an armistice in Korea could cause a letdown in military preparations, and had declared their determination to prevent it if possible.

The new calls include 7,000 men for the Marine Corps in August and 16,000 for the Marines in (Continued on Page Two)

Five Photographers Allowed To Enter City Of Kaesong

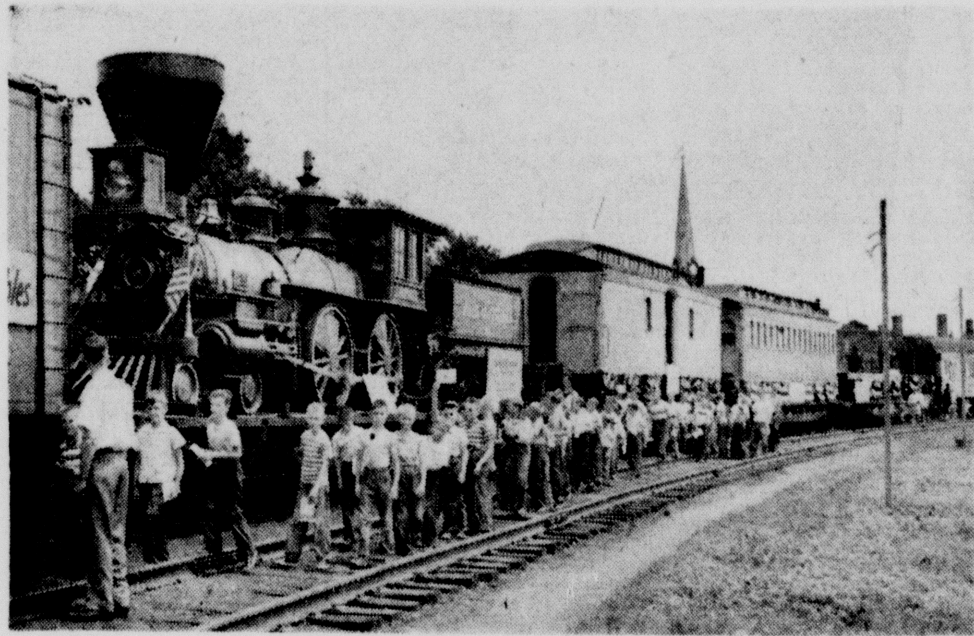

UN TRUCE CAMP NEAR KAESONG, July 11.—(Wednesday)—(I. N. S.)—Five allied photographers were permitted to enter the "Armistice City" of Kaesong today.

Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway's chief public information officer gave the cameramen permission to go to Kaesong after the Communist delegation agreed to receive five allied army photographers.

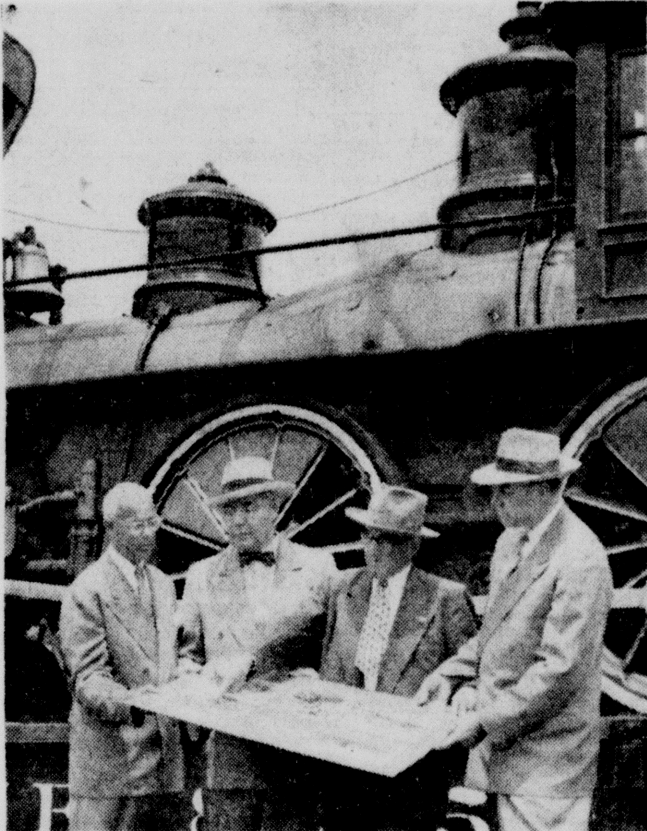

The public information officer said he considered the photographers as army men "since they are accredited to the army."

Pictures taken by all five cameramen will be pooled with all news agencies.

Historic Erie R.R. Exhibit Here

Boys of the Y. M. C. A. walk down the string of railroad cars that make up the Erie Centennial Exhibition Train as it stopped in New Castle on Tuesday afternoon. The boys had just left the Museum car as the picture was made. The Museum car contained many relics and documents of the early railroad days, together with modern methods and techniques, dramatically showing the progress made in railroading over the years.

Mayor of New Castle, John F. Haven, welcomed the Erie Centennial Exhibition Train to the city, Tuesday afternoon as the Erie Railroad celebrates its 100 years of progress. Standing beside a relic of "yesteryear", Mayor Haven and Eben Reid of the G.N.C.A. look over some photos of early locomotives with Erie Railroad officials. They are (left to right) Fred Ball, New Castle agent; Mayor John Haven; V. J. McMullen, superintendent of the Mahoning Division, and Eben L. Reid, executive secretary of the G.N.C.A. The locomotive is the "William Mason" put into service in 1851.

Erie Exhibit Seen By Many Large Number View Centennial Train

In spite of Tuesday's humid weather, a large number of people viewed the Erie Railroad company's Centennial Exhibition Train which was here from 3 p. m. until 10 p. m., spotted on the siding just above the Erie railroad station along the Shenango river.

The train, made up of 18 cars displayed equipment of 100 years ago, and today, and local residents were enabled to gain a better conception of the fine comforts available in present day railroad transportation, and also the care used in transporting freight, to guard against damage.

80,000 Have Viewed Exhibit

Accompanying the train here was a personnel of fifty people, headed by V. J. McMullen, superintendent of the Mahoning Division, with headquarters at Youngstown, G. S. Jones, in charge of the train, and John Ross, public relations man.

Originally, New Castle had not been included in the schedule of exhibitions, but was added only a few weeks ago. Almost 80,000 people have viewed the exhibit since it went on the road.

Included in the exhibit was an actual locomotive, the "William Mason," of 1851, along with a passenger coach and baggage car, as used 100 years ago. Also a museum car, containing many relics of early railroading, and the newest heavy army tank with a 155 M.M. gun, modern refrigerator car, and "Daniel Webster," in effigy, seated on a flat car, as he rode the first train on the Erie railroad as secretary of state, when the Erie opened its line, connecting the Atlantic ocean with the Great Lakes.

Agenda Items Priority Will Be Determined

Truce Delegates Seek To Decide On Order Of Business

By HOWARD HANDLEMAN
(Far Eastern Director, I. N. S.)

UN TRUCE CAMP NEAR KAESONG, July 12.—(Thursday)—A spokesman for the United Nations delegation to the two-day-old Korean truce conference declared Wednesday night that "an armistice is much nearer tonight than it was 24 hours ago."

His statement followed a communique which indicated that the Allied and Communist delegates in the second day of their momentous meeting at Kaesong neared agreement on points to be discussed in the effort to end the Korean War.

'Making Progress'

The UN supreme command's announcement, revealing that a "less formal" attitude was displayed by the Chinese-North Korean delegates Wednesday, told of a "general feeling" among the five Allied emissaries that "progress is being made."

It used the phrase "better understanding" twice in characterizing the atmosphere prevailing during the second-round talks. The communique said "agenda items were more thoroughly explored and... there now exists a better understanding of the intended scope by all concerned."

Reflecting the nearness of agreement on the subjects to be discussed, the bulletin indicated that the only differences remaining to (Continued on Page Two)

Communique Is Issued On Kaesong Parley

UN TRUCE CAMP NEAR KAESONG, July 11.—(I. N. S.)—Here is the text of a communique issued tonight on the second day of the armistice conference at Kaesong:

It was evident to all the United Nations command delegates, that the Communist delegates exhibited less stiffness and were less formal than on the previous day.

"The atmosphere permitted better understanding between the negotiating parties."

One of Difficulties

"One of the delays in conducting and expediting the negotiations is the difficult inherent in the language barrier. Considerable time and strength on the part of both negotiating delegations was spent assuring themselves they had correctly interpreted and understood statements of the other parties."

"The agenda items were more thoroughly explored and discussed by both parties and there now exists a better understanding of the intended scope by all concerned."

"There still exist some differences of opinion regarding the (Continued on Page Two)

Annual Old Timers Day will be held Wednesday, August 15, at Cascade Park, it is announced.

This day, designed for the old-timers of New Castle and vicinity, has been an annual event in the community for more than 40 years.

Many school reunions are being held during the same week in order that persons from out of town may attend both their school reunions and Old Timers Day.

Committee in charge of this year's program hopes to make this year's get-together one of the finest in the history of the event.

be ironed out before the talks can get down to essentials are those relating to the order of business.

It said "some differences" still exist regarding "priority" of agenda items.

Many Hurdles To Remain

Informed sources at the UN truce camp near Kaesong cautioned, however, that once the agenda is agreed upon, many hurdles will remain to be overcome when the two delegations start bargaining over the essential issues.

The Wednesday night UN communiqué contained the significant announcement that 20 Allied newsmen will be allowed to go to Kaesong, beginning with Thursday's scheduled session, to "cover" the negotiations.

Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, UN supreme commander, had said he would let correspondents enter Kaesong only "after" the conference is on the tracks and there is assurance that it will stay on the tracks.

"I think the talks now are on the tracks," declared the official spokesman, Col. George Ruhlen of Las Cruces, N.M., a member of Gen. Ridgway's headquarters staff.

Still Discuss Agenda

Ruhlen, who is on the staff of the UN armistice delegation and attends the Kaesong sessions, told correspondents at the truce camp late Wednesday night that a ceasefire was nearer than 24 hours earlier.

However, he added that the negotiators still were discussing the agenda Wednesday and "may not get down to brass tacks" until Thursday.

The colonel told the reporters at a news briefing that Wednesday's sessions were smoother than Tuesday's opening talks.

"Things were better organized," he said. "That's one reason why the delegates were able to return to the truce camp from Kaesong earlier than yesterday."

Ruhlen was not permitted to tell the newsmen whether definite agreement had been reached on any of the points of the agenda proposed by both sides.

No Long Speeches

The officers said the negotiations Wednesday were conducted in a "business-like manner" with "less tension" than on Tuesday and that there were "no long-winded speeches," as on the opening day of the fateful conference.

Ruhlen added, however, that a "cold military formality" still was apparent in the conference room.

In a once-luxurious Kaesong mansion within sight of Korea's famous 38th Parallel. But the Red delegates—three North Korean and two Chinese generals—were "less stiff" at the second-day session.

Ruhlen said there is "good reason to be optimistic" but would not hazard a guess as to how long the armistice talks are likely to last.

The colonel was forbidden to discuss with the newsmen the topics taken up at the conference or anything about the actual negotiations.

HOPES FOR QUICK CEASE-FIRE IN KOREA BLASTED

ized zone set up as a buffer between the opposing forces, the Red proposal is expected to be discussed extensively in the Kaesong parleys.

It was pointed out that the Red plan for a zone six miles north and six miles south of the 38th Parallel would call for Allied withdrawals of as much as 26 miles from recently hard-won battle-front objectives 20 miles above the parallel.

The 17 UN nations in Korea, it is believed, will seek a further explanation of the proposed withdrawal of foreign forces from Korea.

Particularly in question is the time element. The UN nations want to know what the Reds mean by "in the shortest possible time."

Not too much trouble may be forthcoming on this point if the Communists interpreted this to mean two or three years—consistent with the maintenance of peace on the peninsula.

Gradual Withdrawal

The United States, however, will not take its forces out of Korea "immediately" under any circumstances. It is willing to agree to a gradual withdrawal after the South Koreans are equipped to hold their own against any possible future aggression.

If the North Koreans insist on the removal of the Seventh fleet from Formosa, the proposal is likely to be rejected.

There is no intention to release the Chinese Communists from Korea so they can launch an assault on the Chinese Nationalists' stronghold.

The Red proposal for the restoration of the North and South Korean civil administrations to their prewar status is regarded as strictly a political matter and not one for the military commanders on the field to negotiate.

Bills to restore capital punishment and corporal punishment are about to be acted on in New Zealand's Parliament.

Ruhlen added, however, that a "cold military formality" still was apparent in the conference room.

Pa Newc hopes that motorists will soon realize there is a narrow strip of the street at the railroad crossing at the foot of Croton avenue hill. Unless they do and slow down someone is going to get hurt. Cars trying to get into the flow of traffic are dangerously cutting in front of each other.

To Give Address

The address will be delivered by Rev. Fr. Thomas J. Quigley, M. A., P. H. D., diocesan superintendent of schools, of Pittsburgh.

A flag raising ceremony will be conducted by the New Castle Catholic War Veterans Post 741. This will be followed by the blessing of the beautiful shrine of Our Lady of Fatima, which is located between the church and the school building. Bishop Dearden will bless the shrine during an impressive ceremony.

Open house of the school will take place at the close of the ceremonies. Parishoners and interested friends may inspect the new building.

At 5 o'clock, a parish dinner will be served in the church hall. Bishop John F. Dearden to be the guest of honor. Visiting priests, guests from out of town, chairmen and team captains of the school campaign will attend the dinner.

As also will the various heads of the church organizations.

Dream Of Pastor

The dedication of the new school comes as the fulfillment of a dream realized by the pastor, Rev. Fr. Nicholas DeMita, after 46 years of service to the St. Vitus parish. Ground for the new school was broken on March 19, 1950, and in the fall of that year the cornerstone was laid. In February of this year one semester of the kindergarten class was held.

Enrollment of 153 children has already been completed for the fall semester of grades 1, 2 and 3. Eventually nine grades and a kindergarten will be established at the school.

Rev. Fr. Albert M. Inteso, and Rev. Fr. Raymond Heintz, assistant pastors, are working diligently together with Fr. DeMita, to make this day, one of the most inspiring and successful, for both parishoners and guests.

Members of the Red Coat band will be present prior to the ceremonies at 3 o'clock on Sunday afternoon to entertain the large crowd expected to attend.

COALITION IN

ON CONTROLS BILLS

As the House began its third day of debate on the controls bill, there were these other developments on the economic front:

1. The Wage Stabilization board approved an additional two per cent pay raise for 150,000 telephone workers, bringing the total increase to 10 per cent.

2. The National Production authority announced that it will defer construction of some schools, hospitals, roads and other large projects because of the steel shortage.

3. The NPA said that limited construction of amusement and recreational projects may be permitted if small quantities of steel, copper and aluminum are used.

4. The Federal Reserve board refused to relax credit controls on autos, television sets and household appliances despite mandatory provisions in pending Senate-House legislation.

Approval of the livestock quota amendment led Rep. Muller (D) N. Y., an administration leader, to predict that the House controls bill will be weaker than the Senate measure. President Truman had regarded the original House proposals as more satisfactory.

September. The Army's own request is increased from an original 22,000 to 28,000 in August, and is continued at 28,000 for September.

The immediate reason for the increase is a sharp drop in enlistments. Only 10,000 volunteers, half the number expected, were received by the Army in June.

However, the Army is currently over-strength to the extent of nearly 100,000 men, and could have postponed the increase in the draft until a later date.

The fact that the increase was made effective while armistice negotiations are in progress was believed to be a policy decision which it is hoped will have the psychological effect of steeling the country for further defense efforts.

A total of 636,000 draftees have now been requested since the start of the Korean war. Earlier this year, men were being inducted at a rate of 80,000 a month.

was learned, for pruning appropriations and raising revenue estimates for the biennium inasmuch as records show that during the past decade biennium budgets have been underestimated from five to 33 per cent.

There was some discussion, Berger said, of slapping a tax on gross electric bills but no conclusion was reached.

The income tax, proposed by Gov. John S. Fine to set his $1,220,000,000 budget on an even keel, has been blackballed by at least 12 Republicans, sufficient to squelch passage.

To Help You Buy "Clean-Up" Insurance

Most salesmen of life insurance advise buying what they call a "clean-up" policy. It is intended to pay doctor bills and burial expense. This leaves other insurance intact to protect a family.

Many men, when considering such a policy, have asked us how much they should include for burial expense. We always are glad to furnish this information. It is a part of our method of straightforward dealings with our patrons.

We are not in the insurance business, nor do we own stock in any insurance company. However, we do recommend a "clean-up" policy. Our experience has shown that it is good protection for a family.

CANDIDATE FOR COUNTY ASSESSOR

FIRST NAME ON THE BALLOT

As it is impossible for me, due to my present unfortunate condition, to personally contact each Republican voter in the First Ward, before the primary election which is to be held on Tuesday, July 24, 1951, I take this method of asking the vote of the Republican voters in said Ward, at the coming primary election, and I assure them that, if nominated and elected, I will perform the duties of that office efficiently, fairly and impartially to all property owners in the First Ward.

I am the present assessor of the First Ward, having been appointed by the County Commissioners of Lawrence County to finish the term left vacant by the resignation of the duly elected assessor, and will appreciate the vote and support of the Republican voters at the coming primary.

We Owe Our Young People Wholesome Recreation

There was a time when New Castle was small when youngsters needed little from the city in the way of recreation.

Today with a growing population and a more complex civilization, New Castle owes its youngsters wholesome recreation facilities. We have made a start in New Castle but we are still lagging.

In weather such as this, a swimming pool is something that should be in reach of every youngster in the city. We have a swimming pool in Cascade Park, but it is not ready to open yet. Right now it is a dry concrete shell.

The result is that our youngsters are forced to go to Ellwood City, Grove City, New Wilmington, or well out into the country to open stream swimming.

Surely our youngsters are worth a decent municipal swimming pool. Surely New Castle has as much public spirit and finances as some of the smaller communities around us.

As mayor of the city I would certainly press for a municipal swimming pool in New Castle. Our youngsters are our most valuable asset. I believe in giving them opportunity to develop.

It will take your vote to win the Republican nomination for mayor for me, July 24.

Given in marriage by her father, the graceful bride wore a ballerina-length creation of nylon tulle over satin with imported Belgium lace insertions featuring the yoke and full skirt, and long sleeves pointed at the wrist. Her fingertip veil of nylon tulle was caught to a halo of orange blossoms. Her only jewelry consisted of small pearl earrings, a gift of the groom. She wore the traditional something old, new, borrowed and blue, and carried a colonial bouquet of stephanotis centered with a white orchid.

Miss Phyllis L. Bosco, as maid of honor, was dressed in pink velvety net over taffeta, made strapless with matching stole. Her headpiece was a pink crown with seed pearls and rhinestones. She also wore pink nylon mitts and a pearl necklace, gift of the bride. Her flowers consisted of pink Esther Reed daisies and Fleur d'Amour.

Orlando Lucidore acted as best man for the groom.

A reception was held at The Castleton hotel for about 400 guests, with a local orchestra providing music for dancing.

Mr. and Mrs. Richards will reside in their newly furnished apartment at 823 South Mill street at the conclusion of their wedding trip.

'PERSECUTED' U.S. REDS

The fact that four of the 11 American Communist party leaders have jumped their bail leaves the government with a heavy financial loss on the transaction. The trial cost more than $1,000,000, and the forfeited bonds totaled only $80,000.

Meanwhile, the bail-jumping merely reemphasizes the feebleness of Communist attacks on American justice in this trial.

The 11 defendants were free on bail before the trial as well as after it. They were not held incommunicado for 10 weeks before it started, as William Oatis was in Czechoslovakia, in a fiendish campaign to break their grip on themselves until they would "confess" to an assortment of imaginary crimes.

They were not "defended" in court by a stooge appointed by a judge who behaved like a biased prosecutor. Their attorneys were so able to abuse their privileges under American law that at times they almost caused orderly procedure to break down.

With a less patient and determined man than Judge Medina they would have succeeded, and then American justice would have granted them a mistrial.

After conviction they were not sent to prison but freed on bail while their case was appealed all the way to the United States Supreme Court. There a minority of two justices held that the Smith Act under which they were convicted violates the constitutional ban on interference with speech.

If three more justices had shared this attitude all 11 defendants would have been freed. Finally, four were able to jump bail and get away, at least temporarily.

The seven who are now locked up are entitled to the same privileges as other prisoners, with none of the refinements of torment to which Robert Vogeler was subjected in Hungary. They are not to be kept eternally in solitary, under glaring lights never turned off, watched 24 hours a day by hidden guards who yell at them for innocent acts not forbidden in American jails.

It would be poetic justice if they were given such treatment, but it wouldn't be American justice.

THE CASE OF TUNGSTEN

Two defense agencies have been charged with responsibility for this country's "pitifully small" store of tungsten, that hard and scarce metal essential to the production of arms and civilian goods. They are accused of playing "blind man's bluff"—with all the players "blindfolded"—until the Communist victory in China closed the best source of supply. And then, it is asserted, stockpiling "merely stepped up from a crawl to a shuffle."

A subcommittee of the Senate Armed Services Committee, generally called the Senate's defense "watchdog" committee, has handed up this indictment. The defense agencies involved are the Army and the Munitions Board. And the phrases already quoted are only some of the sharply worded criticisms in the subcommittee's report on the tungsten situation.

One more sentence might sum it up: "This is one of the worst examples of the evil effects of bureaucratic complacency upon the defense program that our subcommittee has uncovered."

It can be said in extenuation of the two agencies that the present stockpile, however inadequate, is larger than the supply in this country at the beginning of World War II. But that is not the question. The question is to what extent the nation's needs were met.

That must be the criterion, and the two agencies concerned can hardly plead not guilty. The subcommittee declares that "the free world stands on the verge of tungsten starvation." It says we are "in a position where we must tighten our belts until it hurts and it is going to hurt plenty." It says there is no possible way now to provide all the tungsten required for essential military and civilian production.

So there has been a failure. It was an inexcusable failure, because there is simply no excuse good enough when what needed to be done went undone.

A MYTH EXPLODED

The old myth that lightning never strikes twice in the same place has been exploded. Westinghouse Electric Corporation engineers say it always strikes twice in the same place and sometimes as many as 40 times. They have been studying the subject for more than 35 years.

They explain that a "lightning canal" is set up between cloud and earth by the first discharge. That is only a trail blazer, however. They contend any number of charge centers in the clouds may use it to send their bolts to earth. There are at least two discharges along the same channel, and more than 40 have been recorded, according to the engineers.

Modern lightning protection equipment, consisting of "lightning traps" maintained on top of tall structures, is virtually foolproof, the scientists say. They reveal also that lightning can be "cold" as well as hot. Hot lightning, which stretches out a low current over a longer period, causes most fires. The explosive kind is described as cold because it expends its high electric current in one burst.

Daniel Boone VI, descendant of the great Kentucky woodsman, is a fancy iron work artist, we read. His great-great-grandpaw was fancy with another type of iron—the shootin' variety.

In View Of News Of The World

By J. C. OESTREICHER, INS Foreign Director

May Be Notable Week

Initiators of peace, working in a cloud of doubt and some suspicion, have taken control on both sides of the globe today and humanity is left wondering whether this week is to be one of the greatest in modern history.

It is surely not mere coincidence that President Truman proposed to both houses of congress that the state of war with Germany be ended at a moment when formal truce negotiations got under way in Korea.

Nor was it an accident that British Foreign Secretary Herbert Morrison announced formally that Britain had ended the state of hostilities that began with Adolf Hitler's invasion of Poland in 1939.

The British and French governments, with the cooperation and consent of their colonies had decided months ago on the move with regard to Germany.

Sounded Out Long Ago

On the basis of long-standing agreements, the United States obviously had been sounded out long in advance of such a measure. And it was a reasonable assumption that before Mr. Truman sent his message to Vice President Alben Barkley, chief officer of the senate, and Speaker Sam Rayburn of the house of representatives, that approval would be forthcoming.

The nations of western Europe came to the conclusion long ago that little if anything was to be gained by leaving Germany isolated in a stigma of war guilt.

Steps toward new recognition were taken gradually. Punitive action against some war criminals was whittled down. In other cases, appeals were allowed to go before the highest tribunals before sentences were carried out, and then it was only after every possible avenue of appeal had been explored that justice was rendered.

Full Diplomatic Status

The West German Federation, as the republic is known officially, was accorded full diplomatic status. It was allowed to recreate a foreign office for the first time since the passing of the unregrettable Joachim von Ribbentrop and now has established representation in New York, Washington, Paris and London.

Permission has been granted for the rebuilding of a German merchant fleet under specific limitations.

Steps are being taken for a new supply of limited armaments to the new Germany, on the stipulation that these are to be used if at all, solely in the defense of western Europe against aggression.

And together with all of this, there are definite measures for a peace treaty with Japan as the result of new findings made by the world-wide tour of ambassador-at-large John Foster Dulles. It is surely a week that has begun with peace rather than war as the symbol of effort.

Yet the obstacles are obvious and at the same time tremendous. Some elements of the United Nations high command in the far east are hopeful regarding the Korean peace talks; others are definitely skeptical.

France, with its government facing an unpredictable future in a new national assembly, has a great many people who look with disfavor upon too rapid admission of Germany into the "family of nations."

Distrust of Soviet Russia and of communism in general is a factor that controls the thinking of countless millions.

The ever-present threat of new and violent disturbances in the middle east and on the borders of Yugoslavia refuses to be dissolved because of the peace attempts now being made elsewhere.

Still and all, it is an insight upon the popular feeling in the western world at least to see and know that almost every thought and action is hanging at the present upon the conversations with the Chinese and North Korean communist enemies at the 38th parallel city of Kaesong.

The talks may be successful, temporary, or at worst a complete failure.

But in them lie the path for the future of the world as far as anyone can see it.

Folks Of Fame

Maurice J. Tobin was born May 22, 1901, in Roxbury, Mass., and began work with a leather company in Boston. He worked for a telephone and telegraph company, and was elected mayor of Boston in 1938, serving until 1944. He has served as member of the Massachusetts House of Representatives, and was governor of Massachusetts from 1945-46. He has been United States secretary of labor since 1948.

Mrs. Woodrow Wilson was born in Wytheville, Va., in 1872. She married a Washington, D. C., jeweler, and after his death, she was wed to a President of the United States. She accompanied the President to Europe on his mission, and was with him on his speaking tour of the United States on their return. After his death she wrote a book, titled, "My Memoir." She still lives in Washington, D. C.

Just Folks

A CITY
A city is a dream come true.
At first the vision of a few
Who found the site and settled down.
Courageously to start a town.

The winding paths of pioneers
Are strengthened as the need appears.
And from devoted enterprise
School houses and God's temples rise.

Next comes the call for labor
Invention's better things to build.
And soon the wilderness makes room
For furnace, forge and lathe and loom.

By thousands, when the few have gone.
The dream is bravely carried on.
In time by those who have believed.
A city's greatness is achieved.

PIGS AND PEOPLE
Pigs have social security but they have trouble too. One of these troubles is a disease called Trichinosis. The little trichina worm gets into the pigs muscles and sets up house-keeping.

When the pig is processed into hams and pork chops these worms stay put. They are very much alive and may cause trouble to the eater of the pork.

It is necessary that pork be cooked so as to avoid the danger of trichinosis.

Thorough cooking makes the meat safe and helps the flavor too.

Politics . . . is it a game? Is it a business? Could be debated and right now there are plenty of folks who have ideas . . . definite or otherwise. All over the world politics is enjoyed . . . and back through the ages it was enjoyed . . . but remember then as now the degree of enjoyment varied.

It's a game that experienced as well as inexperienced seem to join . . . but amateur standing soon is lost. It's a business that has many angles . . . and a business that hundreds enter . . . some to remain . . . some to attempt to forget. It's a fickle game . . . it's a fickle business . . . But here in the U. S. more people find it amusing and serious. Anyone who holds citizenship can find some nook in politics . . . Right now we are thinking about those who seek an office in the city and county. Their statements are interesting and sometimes rather amusing . . . too amusing at times.

We have talked with all the applicants (on the Republican side) for Mayor. We have found in each, one common thought . . . they want to improve the police appearance. Perhaps they have told us this because they know that we think along that line. Well, now we have this to say . . . not only should the police look and act dignified . . . but we feel that the other public-office holders should also make a good appearance.

While in this conversation with mayor candidates we asked the question . . . "How about City Manager?" Now there were some slow comebacks . . . and some quick answers. They, like a lot of us, don't know too much about the duties of a city manager. Others whom we have questioned and who are in the political game feel that there is some merit in a City Manager Plan.

But City Manager for this community is not the question today . . . Today we must concern ourselves with selecting candidates for the general election in the Fall . . . The battle between the Democrats and the Republicans . . . and the best man win. But you must exercise your vote on July 24th.

Washington Calling

(By MARQUIS CHILDS)

Eisenhower Speech Getting Results

WASHINGTON, July 11.—Reports from Europe indicate that already the stirring speech which General Dwight D. Eisenhower made in London last week is beginning to get results. In that speech, which was a kind of flag nailed to the masthead to hearten all who believe the nations of the free world must cooperate effectively in order to meet the Communist threat, Eisenhower called for the unification of Europe.

It was a courageous speech, since the supreme commander of the North Atlantic defense boldly pointed to the next essential step. And that step is not at all popular with some of the North Atlantic treaty organization governments. Britain's Labor government takes a dim view of European union.

The plague of customs barriers, tariffs, national jealousies and rivalries is more than anything else responsible for slowing down the NATO effort in Europe. Unless this ancient tangle, this tightly-knot of sovereignty, can be cut, the North Atlantic Defense Organization may never be more than a half-fulfilled wish. That realization was behind Eisenhower's urgent words.

A plane load of senators, Republican and Democratic members of the Senate foreign relations committee has arrived in Paris on a visit first to Eisenhower and then to the capitals of a dozen countries. The senators are following the example of the successful visit a month ago by members of the House foreign affairs committee.

One thing the senators will learn, and that is about the great difficulty of placing defense contracts in Europe. This goes back to the insistence of each country that it have its own autonomous defense production system, complete with all the trimmings.

Under a unified Europe, defense production could be parcelled out to countries with specialized facilities. Thus, France is equipped to produce truck, half-tracks and other vehicles for all the NATO powers in Europe. Holland could turn out sufficient destroyer escorts, sub-chasers and other small craft, as well as electronics equipment. Belgium is skilled in the production of small arms and small arms ammunition. Italy's industry can produce airplane motors and other essentials calling for advanced technology.

Speculation Resisted
But such specialization has been stoutly resisted. That is one reason few defense contracts have been let. Unless there is much greater urgency behind the drive, this fact, coupled with shortages of scarce material, will likely in the near future produce unemployment in key industries in Italy and France. If that happens, the political fat will be in the fire.

Between the present divisions and doubts and a successfully coordinated effort, the margin seems so small. It is that next step which Eisenhower is working with all his energy and persistence to bring to pass. Whether this happens in time to build defenses adequate to convince the Russians of the futility of any attack on Europe is still an open question.

While Eisenhower is working intensively under fairly trying circumstances to galvanize the power of the west to resist an attack, there is evidence of the development of a clique in this country determined to kill him off. Neo-isolationists, haters and fanatics, they are motivated, of course, by the obvious fact of Ike's overwhelming popularity in this country. Opposed to the whole North Atlantic project, they see in his popularity a political threat.

Would Carry the Day
Eisenhower as a presidential candidate would be likely to carry the day for sustaining the mutual defense of the west. The Eisenhower-haters are apparently so fearful of this spectre that they start vipping at anyone, however unimportant and unofficial, who dares to suggest that it may happen.

There is something almost pathological in the acuteness of this fear. It is indicative of what may be ahead if the spectre they so dread bulks larger on the horizon and Eisenhower's political strength grows. There are those who believe that the sneer attack on Gen. George C. Marshall, secretary of defense, was intended to be in part, at least, the build-up of a campaign aimed eventually at destroying Eisenhower or in any event, at neutralizing him politically.

I do not believe that any attempt of that sort can succeed. Eisenhower's hold on the country is too great. But at the same time this does not mean that he has any considerable chance of obtaining the nomination of either major party.

We have gone a long way in this country toward ending our political birthright to a few professionals. We may actually have ceded to them the power of final choice. And they show a preference for safe mediocrity and blind loyalty.

We've got another crop surplus coming up so I guess we're going to be busted again paying the taxes to keep up the price so too many people don't get accustomed to eating regular.

We've got two billion dollars tied up now in farm products that we never see the table and we will go for another couple of billion to preserve the right to overproduce.

A fellow who makes too many automobiles or television sets is just stuck with 'em, but, if they even can find a way to start 'em from seeds they will find a loving government ready to take as many as they produce and burn, break or bury them.

We've been hearing about "the ever-normal granary" since the first ever-normal emergency and all I know about it is that I heard a farmer call a city fellow "they rube" the other day.

I knew he was a farmer because he was driving an eight-cylinder convertible spreader with leopard skin saddle and chrome accessories.

The city fellow says "Mighty slick rig you've got there. How can you afford it?" Farmer says "I was just about to ask you the same question."

But the farmers deserve all they can get and they are.

New Eisenhower Boom

(By HOLMES ALEXANDER)

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 11.—Surest sign of a genuine Eisenhower boom is the number of block-ike movements now extant. A convenient way to enumerate the mis under the headings of smear, jeer and fear.

Smear: One group of stop-Ike Republicans has published a pamphlet which charges him with everything that's gone wrong in Europe between the Elbe and the Oder Rivers. Although Ike had little or no part in the high-level political conferences, he's blamed for the partition of Germany and Austria, Tito's seizure of Yugoslavia and the failure of the allies to invade and occupy the Balkan States.

In addition to this trash heap of fault-finding at Ike's doorstep, there is some slime being dished up from the gutter which served that purpose in 1948. For reasons not very clear—except that he rose to fame under Roosevelt—Ike is marked for renewed attention by the race-haters and minority-baiters. These are the smear-mongers who are still using the moth-eaten type of rumor that was circulated against Warren Harding and Grover Cleveland. Incidentally, this pair won three presidential elections between them.

Such attacks, as the record clearly proves, bring the victim much sympathy and support but often cause him to wish he'd never fooled around with politics. Still, no amount of tut-tut disapproval is going to make the slanderers cease and desist. Running for office, like going to war, is always risky. There's no indication that Ike is going to quit.

Jeer: You can hear it said in the camp of other GOP candidates and candidate-makers that Ike's GI boots never fitted comfortably under the desk at Columbia. He is pictured as a man of action who enjoyed speech-making and football games, but who did not know or care much about the academic and administrative life.

Such comments, of course, are designed to suggest that Ike would be monstrously unhappy and ill-placed at the White House, and that it would be an act of kindness to smother his presidential chances. Ike's limited education at West Point sometimes comes up in these discussions. You can readily hear it said to live at the next President ought to be a Yale man whose father used to live at the White House or a University of California graduate whose family includes a bevy of beautiful daughters. It's also still possible to hear the well-planted complaint that Ike was basking in the Welfare State (the Army) at a time when active Republican statesmen in the heat of strife (politics) were giving battle to the New and Fair Deals.

No Vicious Propaganda

None of this anti-Ike propaganda is vicious. It's the sort of needing that any political aspirant should take with a grin. But the laugh is that Eisenhower during the past 10 years has possibly been the (a) most experienced administrator, (b) most-educated soldier and (c) most-briefed candidate of them all. It's hard to belittle a man who's travelled widely in Africa, Europe and Asia; served as allied commander, military governor, Army Chief of Staff, Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff and college president; been lectured by foreign and American experts on diplomacy, economics and politics. If Ike is a dumb Dutchman, he's been fooling a lot of people.

Fear: At least one U. S. Senator and one Republican national committeeman have privately admitted plans to raise the ghost of military dictatorship to haunt the Eisenhower candidacy. This scheme has its funny side because the schemers also plan to attack Ike as a political soldier who never engaged in combat and seldom had direct command of troops. It's going to be difficult to picture the same General as a man on horseback and a chair corps commander. Anyhow, there are further plans to invite Gen. MacArthur to address the Republican Convention and to deliver a stern warning against Pentagon domination of national affairs.

But there is one more—and seldom mentioned—stop-Ike movement within the GOP. A number of Republicans will do their best to nominate Eisenhower at their own Convention but are prepared to out him down if and after they fail. That's to keep him from being useful to the Democrats. In the fine nature of political irony, people who love you in June next year at Chicago may hate you in July.

Looking At Life

By ERICH BRANDEIS

Who is the richest girl in the world?
Some multi-millionaire's daughter.

An Indian rajah's offspring?
A glamorous movie star?

No.
The richest girl in the world is described in an advertisement in a New York newspaper.

Let me quote from it:
"She's probably married to a worker. She's young. Eager. Active. She's the kind of woman who finds romance in nearly everything, touching her life. Love. Marriage. A baby's cry. A visit from Mom and Dad. Owning a car or a washing machine as good as the neighbors."

And so it goes, a whole page of it.
It doesn't name the richest girl in the world. There are too many of her.

What the advertisement MEANS is that any average young American female is the richest girl in the world.

Advertisements put their product into the best possible light.
They never mention the disadvantages of a product or service. By their own logic.

You can't blame them for that. Selling is a tough game. But, selling today is honest. Misrepresentation is liable to land the liar in jail.

Now let us analyze the advertisement I mention.
IT DOES paint the privilege of being an American girl in rosy colors.

But what of it?
Who on this earth is richer than the American—girl, boy, woman or man?

Wealth is not just money.
Some of the wealthiest people have been and are poor in possessions, but rich in happiness. Billions of dollars, tons of diamonds, palaces and estates aren't worth anything unless the SOUL is free.

There is more unhappiness among the very rich people in Europe and in Asia than among comparatively poor families in this country.

Here we have HOPE. Here we

Red Radio Calls For Cessation Of Hostilities

UN TRUCE CAMP NEAR KAESONG, July 11.—(INS)—Red Korea's Pyongyang radio called today for an immediate cessation of hostilities but United Nations sources were silent on this proposal.

The red radio said communist delegates at Kaesong truce talks proposed the immediate cease-fire and also recommended withdrawal of "foreign troops" from Korea in the shortest possible time.

At the first formal cease-fire meeting in Kaesong Monday, Vice Adm. Charles Turner Joy, chief United Nations delegate, told the communist negotiators that hostilities will continue until an "approved armistice commission" is prepared to function.

Red Proposals
The communist proposals announced by the red radio were:

1.—An immediate cease-fire on the ground, in the air and at sea including termination of allied naval blockade of Korea's coasts.

2.—A demilitarized zone along the 38th parallel extending six miles north and six miles south of the arbitrary border between communist and democratic Korea.

It was indicated that UN delegates rejected the idea of a 38th parallel buffer zone but would agree to a withdrawal from present positions.

3.—Restoration of civil administrations to prewar status in the demilitarized parallel zone.

4.—Conference on exchange of war prisoners.

Today's Fashion Flash

By PHYLIS BATTLE

NEW YORK, July 11.—(INS)—A lady shouldn't hide her light under a bushel—but she should be mighty subtle how she shines it!

That's the theory of Coro jewelry makers, who yesterday predicted a peek-out, poke-out fashion in accessories for the coming fall.

In a showing for 170 of the nation's top fashion editors in the Waldorf-Astoria hotel, the Coro people proved that a gal can be more glamorous if she "inkles," not "stinkles," of jewelry.

They showed jeweled pins and clips in such out-of-the-way places as the underside of skirt panels, the underbrims of hats, the dark side of lapels and the hidden side of cuffs.

With the proper flick of the wrist, twist of the hips, nod of the head and twist of the ingenuity—the "hidden sparkle" peeks out with the glamour that only an undiscovered revelation could stimulate.

Another trend the showing demonstrated was the look of vivid color in costume jewelry. Brown, black and gray fashions (which will be the major modes for fall) call for more color in accessories.

To take care of the need for brilliance, there will be topaz, aqua, amethyst, emerald and sapphire stones replacing the severe sparkle of rhinestones, the pristine modesty of pearls and the shiny simplicity of gold and silver.

In court at Queenstown, South Africa, the prosecutor asked a woman if she believed in witchcraft and she replied: "I am a witch."

Top-Grade Steak And Beef Prices Are Being Affected

By FELIX COTTEN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, July 11.—Agriculture department experts said today that Mrs. Housewife, the one person capable of overriding congress, is rolling back prices of top-grade steaks and beef regardless of the wishes of the farm bloc.

They declared that consumer resistance in recent days has caused best-grade beef to sell below price controller DISALLE's price ceilings at both wholesale and retail levels.

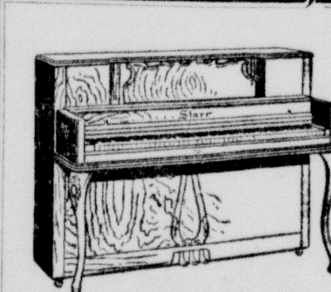

The labor department announced, meanwhile, that food prices generally declined three-tenths of one per cent in the month ending June 15 to 226.8 per cent of the 1935-39 average.

Department economists declared that the entire cost of living probably will show a slight dip when the index is made public the latter part of this month.

If this happens, it will be the

Kroger Drivers To Return To Work

PITTSBURGH, July 11.—(INS)—A judge of common pleas court and his political party drew the criticism of Pittsburgh district teamsters who returned to work today, vowing a "prolonged" strike is due this autumn against Kroger company.

Kroger officials now are trying to negotiate settlement with striking AFL bakery workers who want a pay boost. Eighty-one of Kroger's tri-state district stores have been closed since June 30 because of labor disputes.

In obeying a court injunction, ordering it to resume work and arbitrate the dispute with Kroger, local 249 of the AFL teamsters lashed Judge A. Marshall Thompson who issued the injunction.

In The Open

Creekside tangles can be very anti-social. Especially on a hot, humid July day when they prefer to stand aloof in the deep shade of their clean-lined sycamores. When the word goes out that the countryman is aloof in the bottomlands every mosquito squadron in the danger area is alerted. Stinging nettles mass in wide defensive ramparts, each tiny stinging hair just itching to make contact with the enemy. Spider battalions hustle sticky strands of invisible webbing across the dark trails at just the right height to add to the invader's sweaty discomfort.

Such a wild tangle guards the creek behind the countryman's valley home. Tall sycamores take the breezes a few scant rods from the back porch. Once over the back fence a few steps can lead to the roughest kind of July going in tall ragweed jungles towering high overhead.

The true countryman is cursed with an illogical curiosity which far outweighs the known hazards of those steamy fastnesses beside the wide stream. He rolls down his sleeves, buttons his shirt collar high on his neck, and starts off bravely, only to bog down in the delightful shade of the elm by the back fence.

Reposes Grandly

Here he reposes grandly, eyeing the fiasco which the teeming June rains have made of his garden. Those puny yellowing potatoes are a far cry from the sturdy bushy plants of other years. The corn rows show great gaps where the flooding waters raced down the hillside, cutting wide eroding swaths in their dash to the creek. Taking advantage of the week-long intervals when the garden was too wet to work, wild buckwheat and Indian mallow and redroot have run wild over the whole area. The countryman averts his gaze from this heart-rending spectacle and turns his attention to the bustling activity close around him. Syrphus flies hang in the sunlight, their motors droning as they perform dazzling acrobatic feats. These so-called "sweat bees" are most interesting citizens. Some of them seem to never come in for a landing.

A tiny wasp runs about through the grassroot jungles, seeking out the ground spiders which are her particular prey. Flirting her wings, she hurriedly inspects every crack and crevice which might conceal her quarry. Finally she gives up and darts off to greener pastures.

Halted By Beetles

The countryman raises his languid bones from the seductive shade and moose along the fence-row. Again he is halted, this time by a delegation of burnished dog-bane beetles on a blooming cluster of Indian hemp plants. Their bronze-green coats gleaming in the sun, these little fellows fairly dazzle the eye.

Close by a fat caterpillar methodically munches away on a milkweed leaf. He wears his convict-striped suit proudly, as if aware that he will soon burst the bonds of mundane existence and float southward along the air lanes as a gorgeous monarch butterfly. He stuffs himself so full of the milky plant juices that the birds leave him severely alone.

In the weedy bottoms the hiker halts in a yellow sea of black mustard blossoms. Here are honey bees, plying their trade industriously, and here also are many syrphus flies, eagerly fueling up on high octane nectar before taking off for some more non-stop flying. False sunflower is showing its first blooms in the field, as are the wood sage and the oddly beautiful field basil.

The countryman plunges through the tall ragweed clumps, negotiates the wire fence edging the field, and finds himself in the anti-social creekside tangles. A malicious grape vine trips him up, but he escapes a nasty fall by some tricky footwork. Suddenly out of nowhere comes the first wave of mosquitoes. These eager assassins escort him to the first patch of stinging nettles.

He sidesteps this booby trap at the price of one burning elbow, and leans against a tremendous sycamore to wipe the spider webs out of his mouth and eyes. Overhead a Carolina wren sings "skee-diddle! skee-diddle!" and the countryman takes the hint.

This is the Value that Plymouth builds

* THIS IS THE SAFETY-RIM WHEEL that protects you in case of a blowout. It keeps a deflated tire firmly on the rim so it won't twist and throw your car out of control.

* THIS IS THE DOOR that opens wide—10 to 12 inches wider than in the other two leading low-priced cars. It means easier, more graceful exits and entrances. And door openings are higher too.

* THIS IS THE CHAIR-HEIGHT SEAT, highest in the lowest-priced field. With legs and back fully supported, you sit in an erect natural posture that means more comfort, less fatigue. There's ample headroom too.

* THESE ARE THE CONTROLS and conveniences that only Plymouth offers in the lowest-priced field: An ignition key that starts the engine and puts the automatic choke in operation... electric windshield wipers that don't slow down when you step on the gas... and Safe-Guard Hydraulic Brakes that give you better, more certain control because they have a total of six hydraulic cylinders compared to four in the other two leading low-priced cars.

* THIS IS THE ENGINE, and the only engine in the lowest-priced field, that offers the brilliant performance of 97 horsepower with 7.0 to 1 compression ratio.

* THIS IS THE CAR with "Safety-Flow Ride"—one of the greatest engineering advances in automotive history. New Oriflow shock absorbers, along with other features, give you three times the cushioning power of ordinary shock absorbers... sure-footed safety on the roughest roads... a relaxed and restful ride.

* Found only in Plymouth in the lowest-priced field

Ward Bicycles Being Licensed

Large Group Presents Bikes For Inspection

Registration of bicycles in the seventh ward district is taking place today.

Only one day—Wednesday—is scheduled for registration of bicycles in the seventh ward. This is being done in the fire station, Cherry street, between the hours of 1 to 4 p.m. Registrations also took place this morning from 9 to 12 o'clock noon.

The bicycles are registered annually by the New Castle Police Department as a safety measure and also to prevent the theft of the vehicles.

This inspection and registration is carried out under the provisions of a city ordinance. Bicycle owners must have their bicycles equipped with horn, light and reflectors, it is stated. If they do not possess these articles, they will be turned down.

During the morning hours, a large group of youngsters turned out for the inspection period. A number had to return home for additional repairs to their wheels before they could pass final inspection. In general, though, police report that most of the bikes were in good shape. Licenses were attached to the bikes before the youngsters took them away from the fire house.

George Junior Head Speaker

School Leaders At Grove City Heard

Mr. Gladden told of the progress being made at the home and of the increase in the scope of its activities.

Most of the boys who are residents at the home are boys who come from broken homes, or with poor environment, he stated, adding that virtually all of these boys become valuable citizens through the training they receive at the home.

Have Bright Futures

He recited the history of a number of the boys, some of whom have been led into evil ways by their parents.

The George Junior Republic is not a penal institution, he stated, but a corrective one, the largest in Western Pennsylvania.

He told of one boy who had an IQ of 140, and who after graduating from Grove City High school has gone on to Grove City college, to equip himself for a position in latter life as an electrical engineer.

They are boys who lacked love and security in their life before coming to the institution, which they find there.

Representatives of the Erie Railroad company who were here with the Centennial Exposition touring the country, were guests of the club.

They included V. J. McMullen, superintendent of the Mahoning Division at Youngstown; C. G. Andrews, assistant general freight agent at Youngstown; F. S. Jones, in charge of the centennial train; John Ross, public relations man; J. R. Ebert, assistant superintendent of the Mahoning division; W. J. Donnelly, trainmaster of the Mahoning Division; H. L. Branchfield, Gerald Saunders, C. H. Schlegel, and Fred Ball, local freight agent.

Poster Vision Contest Awards Are Made

HARRISBURG, July 11.—(INS)—Award of a $200 cash prize to Wayne Stetler, an Allentown high school student, was announced today by the State Council for the Blind at the conclusion of the poster vision contest.

The winning poster drives home the message: "Your eyes are priceless—don't neglect them." David Krusko of Hazleton high school won a $150 prize. One hundred dollars each went to Jean Barbour of Peabody high school in Pittsburgh, Nancy Katchmer of Hazleton high school and Lee Hirsch of Glenside Weldon joint high school at Glenside.

Mariene Litterina of Stowe township high school near McKees Rocks, and Arn McDonnell of St. Rose high school at Carbon-dale, each won $75 prizes.

Couple Shoot Over Ohio River Dam; But Escape Death

ASPINWALL, Pa., July 11.—(INS)—A locktender told today how he watched a Beaver, Pa., couple shoot over lock No. 2 near Aspinwall and miraculously escape being sucked under by the undertow that churns below the dam.

Locktender Carmine Bolta said he first saw the motorboat, carrying George and Jean Gibson, when it was only 20 feet above the edge of the dam yesterday.

"My first impulse," he related, "was to yell a warning at them, but I'm glad I didn't."

He explained that momentum supplied by the motor carried the boat over the dam and 14 feet past the undertow. The motor was torn from the craft but quickly pulled aboard by Gibson when the boat landed on its bottom. Had the locktender yelled, he might have excited the Gibsons and caused them to shut off the motor in an effort to prevent going over the dam.

A man in a skiff towed them through the lock to the upper pool and safety.

Standard equipment, accessories and trim illustrated are subject to change without notice.

These are days to try the mettle of a man. There's his world to worry about—his country—his business—his family. And there are his own hopes and aspirations.

And, yet, a man must go on. Everything he has, and plans for, demands a tilt to his head and a lilt to his spirits.

And that's where his Cadillac comes into the picture—for here, beyond all question, is one of the world's great therapeutics for a world-weary man.

Just to look at it, in the driveway, is an inspiration—proud, beautiful, eager and substantial.

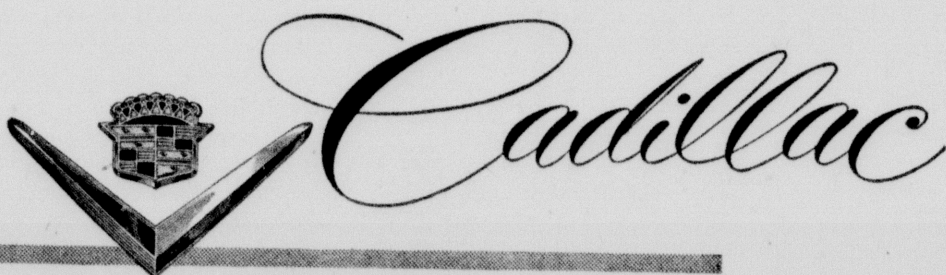

And, oh, how you rest when it takes to the highway!

There's the deep-throated lullaby of its powerful engine; there's the soothing, restful, relaxing ride; and there's the soft swish of the wind as it flows past the streamlined body.

Men look forward to it throughout the day.

We have it on the word of a great statesman, and a great surgeon, and a great general, and a great business man—and simply thousands of others who are weary with the heavy burden of things as they are—that the hour at the wheel of a Cadillac is the relaxing one of the twenty-four.

U. S. Building New Air Bases In North Africa

(BULETIN)
WASHINGTON, July 11.—(INS)—General Hoyt S. Vandenberg revealed on his return from Europe today that the U. S. is building a ring of air bases around the Mediterranean in North Africa as well as the Middle East.

The Air Force chief of staff said the North African bases are being built with "amazing speed," and that he was "most favorably impressed" by what he saw on a brief flight to the African coast. He described the construction as a "heartening sight."

This was the first official information that arrangements for building the North African bases had been completed. Vandenberg said negotiations for the rights were concluded satisfactorily some time ago.

The chief also revealed that the U. S. plans to send a group of F-86 Saber Jets, America's fastest fighter plane, to England by the end of this summer. A group is normally 75 operating planes.

Negotiate For French Bases
Concerning diplomatic negotiations for U. S. air bases in France, Vandenberg commented that these are progressing "more slowly than I would like to see," but he said that nevertheless progress is being made.

Vandenberg arrived at Washington National airport after a ten-day trip to Europe. He said he spent much time examining British research and experimental projects in the development of faster and better fighter and bomber planes.

The British, he said, are approaching aeronautical problems from a different angle than the U. S. He said that this is "all to the good because we are covering the field and together will discover more possibilities."

Official information on Middle Eastern air bases so far has been that the U. S. has a base at Dhahran Saudi Arabia, and is assisting Turkey to build up bases in that country.

Vandenberg did not indicate the number of North African bases or give their exact location.

Must File Security Tax Returns For Domestic Workers

"Housewives must file social security tax returns for their domestic workers for the second quarter of 1951 by July 31 at the latest," Myron Milbourn, manager of the New Castle Social Security office stated today.

Mr. Milbourn advised employers of domestics, who have not already done so, to immediately get in touch with the collector of internal revenue. "It is necessary to do this only once," he said, "thereafter the collector's office will mail your tax blanks to you each quarter."

The local office has received many calls from housewives asking how their employees can obtain social security numbers. "An employee who has never had a number before," Mr. Milbourn explained, "can get one at any social security field office. If an employee already has a number, no matter how long ago she got it, it is still good. An individual gets one number, and one number only, during a lifetime. If she has lost her social security card, she can get a duplicate card bearing the same number at the nearest social security office." Mr. Milbourn added that all tax returns must include the employee's social security number, otherwise the employee cannot get credit for the wages being reported. Household employees themselves do not require numbers.

"The new law," Mr. Milbourn stated, "covers domestics on a compulsory basis and for the first time gives workers regularly employed in a private household the same retirement and survivorship protection that other workers have enjoyed under the social security program."

"To be regularly employed," Mr. Milbourn explained, "a domestic must work for one employer for 24 or more days in a calendar quarter, either part time or full time, and be paid $50 or more in cash wages. A calendar quarter is a three-month period beginning with January 1, April 1, July 1, or October 1."

National Farm Safety Week Is Given Approval

HARRISBURG, July 11.—(INS)—National farm safety week July 22-28 was endorsed by Gov. John S. Pine today with a call for the state's agricultural workers to guard against accidents.

"Before spring work started on Pennsylvania farms this year it was estimated that from 10 to 15 persons would be killed in farm tractor accidents," he said. "Unfortunately that prediction has come true."

"Reports are at hand showing exactly 15 persons, including one two-year-old child and one who was four years of age, met death on farms of the commonwealth this spring due to accidents with farm tractors."

"The accidental death rate for farm workers is more than twice as high as for workers in non-agricultural industries."

"This means that greater emphasis than ever before needs to be given to safety education and to avoidance of preventable accidents on our farms."

Philippines Bridge Named For MacArthur

MANILA, July 11.—(INS)—Celebration of Philippine Republic Week was climaxed Tuesday with the dedication of a bridge in the United Nations plaza named for General Douglas MacArthur.

"MacArthur is a name which will live in the histories of our respective countries."

"A more fitting name could not have been chosen."

The bridge, destroyed during the Pacific war, was reconstructed with United States funds at a cost of more than 693,000 pesos.

Operator Toll Dialing Is Shown By Bell Company

Bell Telephone company has come up with another modern engineering miracle.

Known as Operator Toll Dialing, modern engineering genius has now made it possible to dial long distance calls from one end of the nation to the other without going through half a dozen operators.

Growing Fast

Pittsburgh now has the new operator toll dialing system and can connect with 1000 points over the country. Tomorrow it will add more and in a short time long distance dialing will be as common as intra-city dialing now is.

On Tuesday, newspaper, radio and television representatives of Western Pennsylvania were guests of the telephone company in Pittsburgh and were taken on a tour of inspection of the toll center offices in the downtown headquarters building.

Later in the William Penn hotel the system was explained through charts set up, with telephone men and women answering questions.

The new system is another electrical robot. When it is completely installed over the country New Castle people will be able to dial from their homes to Miami, San Francisco, or any other point.

Sets Up Route

The system is an amazing combination of contacts, controls, markers, and other technical equipment. Dialing the first three digits of a number will set in motion a routing operation by which the mechanism will route the call. In case the usual route is busy, the mechanism will select an alternate route. As an example, if the route circuits on a coast to coast call through Chicago were busy the toll dialing equipment would set up an alternate route by way of St. Louis. The next three digits would direct the call into the particular city wanted and the last four digits would ring the phone wanted.

The whole set up is one of the modern miracles we have come to accept as the norm from engineers. It has already cost the telephone company millions of dollars. Before it is completed, it will cost millions more but once established it will speed the transmission of telephone messages.

Highland Union

Officers were elected at Highland W.C.T.U.'s yearly picnic at the home of the Misses Mary Patton and Harriet Smith of the Youngstown road. The officers followed: president, Mrs. David Nesbit; vice-president, Mrs. John Hanley; secretary, Mrs. James DeGarmo; and treasurer, Mrs. Walter Payne. Summer flowers decorated the tables, where luncheon was served.

Grace was offered by Mrs. John Hanley.

Mrs. Abraham Shaffer, the leader, used "Fundamentals of Good Government" as her theme, with Mrs. Nesbit speaking on that topic. Mrs. Thomas Lindsey spoke on "The Formation of the Declaration of Independence," explaining its preamble.

Mrs. J. F. Fox gave a report, made by J. Edgar Hoover, of the F.B.I. in which he stated, "The United States as a nation spends $750 for sin, pleasures and amusements for each $1 spent for church purposes, (2) One person in 12 attends church, (3) A major crime is committed every 22 seconds, a murder every 40 minutes, (4) 1,000,000 illegitimate children are born each year, and (5) More girls are serving as bar-maids than are attending college."

They voted to contribute to Wayne W. C. T. U.'s local option election. A contribution was made to the "Fruit Juice for Korea" fund.

Mrs. Thomas Lindsey, Mrs. Abram Shaffer and Mrs. Howard Gardner were appointed as delegates to the Lawrence County W. C. T. U. convention at Epworth Methodist church, August 2, the meeting starting at 9:30 a. m. Coffee will be furnished for a box luncheon.

Woman On Trial On Surplus Auto Sales Plan Fraud

CAMDEN, N. J., July 11.—(INS)—The government has demanded conviction of 46-year-old Edna Elizabeth Bower as the "brains" behind an army surplus automobile fraud which cost bar, gain-seekers some $65,000.

Accused by the government as the master mind in the fraud, Mrs. Bower is on trial for conspiracy charges resulting from the auto racket.

Also on trial with her are her husband, former airlines pilot J. Stanley Bower; his brother, George W. Bower, and his wife, Emilie, of Haddonfield, N. J.

In addition to the conspiracy accusation against her, Mrs. Bower also is charged with falsely posing as an army nurse, obtaining money under false pretenses and transporting the money across state lines.

If convicted on all counts, the Philadelphia woman could be sent to prison for 19 years and fined $19,000.

Maximum sentences for the others would be five years imprisonment and $10,000 fines.

Specifically, Mrs. Bower and the others were charged with "taking over" numerous bargain-seekers in 1949 and promising to obtain them year-old but unused army automobiles. Cars were difficult to obtain at that time.

Population Report Shows 43,744,924 Persons In Britain

LONDON, July 11.—(INS)—Census officials revealed today that the population in England and Wales has increased about four million in the past 20 years.

Total population of England and Wales was placed at 43,744,924, an increase of 3,792,547 in the 20 years.

The figures showed there are 1,696,550 more females than males.

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

A science fiction magazine, intent upon discovering whether New Yorkers are as alert and observant as they're cracked up to be, sent a stooge parading through the streets recently as a "man from Mars." His face was painted green, he wore a bright silver helmet that mounted a miniature gun on top, and he had a big flying saucer insignia on his chest.

Only eight people in two miles stopped to ask who he was. When he replied, "I'm from Mars," seven said, "Oh" and passed on. The eighth persisted, "What are you advertising?"

The operator of the switchboard at the Fidelity Insurance Company got a call the other morning from a lady who said, "Connect me with the president. I want to have my husband's fidelity insured—and I haven't got a moment to lose."

Controversial New Truck Bill Passes Senate

HARRISBURG, July 11.—(INS)—The controversial truck bill boosting gross weights and creating a new class for tandem-axle semi-trailers authorized to carry 60,000 pounds moved into the House today after a surprising 31-18 victory in the Senate.

The voting crossed party lines after Sen. T. Newell Wood (R) Luzerne, touched off debate on the measure by claiming that it would benefit 25,000 big trucks in Pennsylvania at the expense of more than 2,750,000 motorists who must use the highways.

Senate Minority Leader John H. Dint, of Westmoreland, replied that the bill was aimed at ending "monopolistic transportation"—an obvious thrust at railroads—and predicted that the time was not far away when the legislature would be embroiled in a similar dispute between truckers and freight-carrying airlines.

Huge Helicopters Suggested
Sen. G. Robert Watkins (R) Delaware, a truck fleet operator, said he already has discussed the possibilities of having huge helicopters pick up loaded trailers and transport them swiftly by air to points near their ultimate destination where they would be moved into terminals by tractors.

Wood drove hard against the bill while Dent co-sponsored with Sen. Guy B. Robinson (R) Susquehanna.

The Luzerne county political ally of Gov. John S. Fine said that final passage of the bill would mean that big truck operators would be able to boost profits $15,000 a truck at the small cost of $37 in added license fees. He predicted that secondary roads would suffer from added truck weights.

The measure, which must pass the House if it is to go to Fine's desk, imposes stiff penalties for overloading and requires tractor-trailers to be able to make a two per cent grade at 20 miles an hour.

The limit on single axle tandem trailers, the most widely-used vehicles on Pennsylvania highways now, would be raised from 45,000 to 48,000 pounds.

ANTI-TRUST SUIT
LOS ANGELES, July 11.—(INS)—Harry Edell, international broker of New York, has filed a $7,500,000 anti-trust suit against Thomas W. Simmons, president of the Johnston Pump company of Los Angeles, on charges that Simmons conspired to defraud.

The suit charges that Simmons caused a British concern to take over the selling of $30,000,000 worth of equipment to India after Edell had arranged the entire transaction.

PARDON us if we play switchman with a familiar railroad phrase, but we aim to flag down some certain people...

Those folks who've always had a great big yen for a new Buick, but a big worry that Buick prices ran too high for their budgets.

Now we'll have to grant you that—on style and beauty and size and impressive appearance—a 1951 Buick looks like a pretty high price tag.

And we'll have to grant, too, that the zooming power and the luxurious ride and the heavyweight steadiness you get in a Buick would also indicate prices beyond the reach of most people.

But honestly, could anything be farther from the truth when you note the sample prices for 1951 Buicks in the panel yonder?

Isn't that beauty—with the big-power, big-mileage, eight-cylinder, valve-in-head Fireball Engine—and with prices starting below those of many of today's sixes—really within your budget picture?

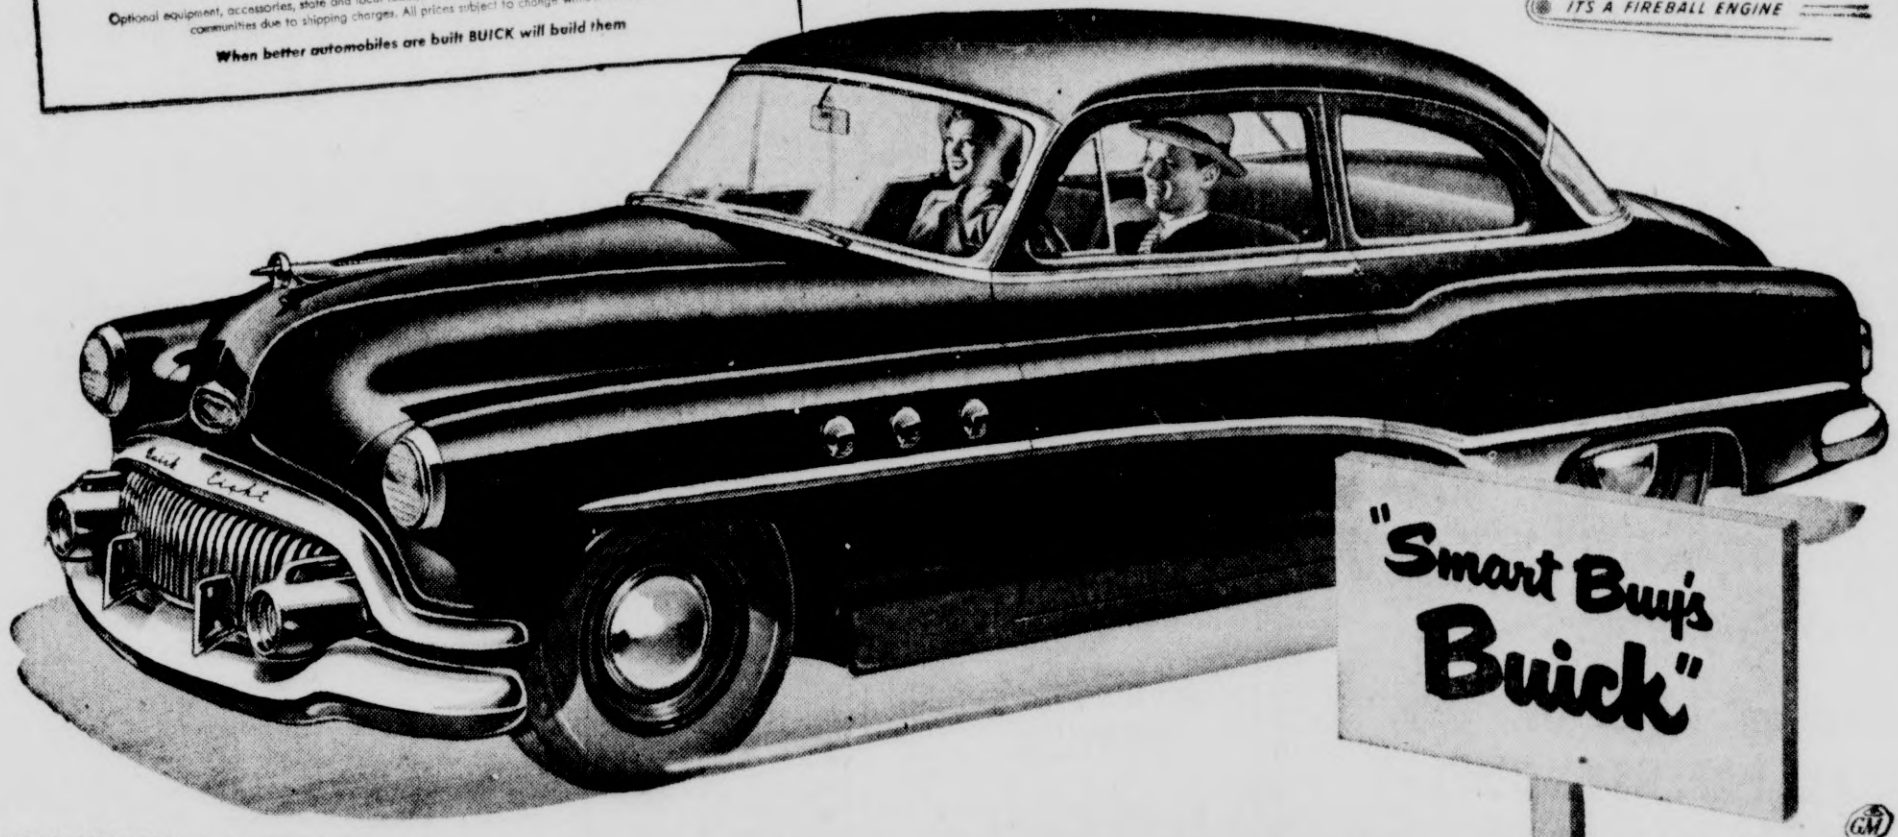

Won't you admit here and now that you can have Buick room and comfort, can have Buick ride and handling, can have Buick style and size—for little, if any, more than you've been paying for lesser cars?

That leaves the next step up to you—stopping in to see us.

Come in soon, look over the SPECIAL, SUPER or ROADMASTER you've always wanted—and let that happy glow go surging all through you as you sign up for your smart-buy Buick.

Crime Probe Is Opened In Newark

NEWARK, N. J., July 11.—(INS)—The senate crime committee launched a probe of reported labor racketeers and waterfront rackets in Newark today and prepared to question the once-elusive Irving Sherman in New York tomorrow. Sherman, an ex-campaing aide to former mayor William O'Dwyer and an alleged pal of gambler Frank Costello, will be questioned behind closed doors by Sen. Tobey (R-N. H.).

The witness could not be found when the senate committee conducted its spectacular New York hearing last March.

Jack G. Allison Plans Full Time Ministry Work

Jack G. Allison of Prospect street, South New Castle, who has been serving as lay pastor of the Washington Union church of the Christian and Missionary Alliance in Union Township for the past five years, will enter the full time ministry, starting Sunday.

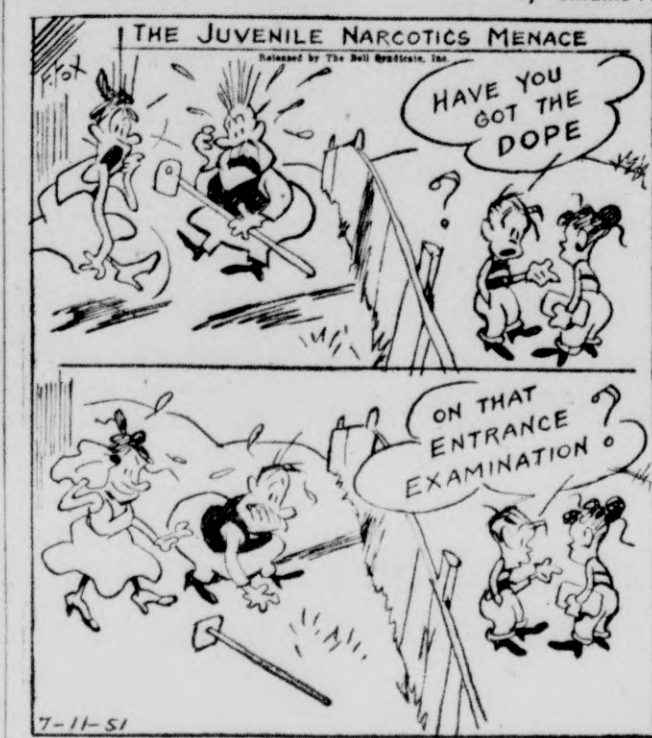

Mr. Allison who has been an employee of the New Castle Water Company also for five years, will end his secular work on Friday, July 13 and devote his entire time to the work of the church. This will enable him to study for his ordination examination which he hopes to pass next fall during the Western Pennsylvania Prayer Conference of the Alliance.

During Mr. Allison's ministry, the Washington Union congregation has moved out of the "Little Red School House" to an impressive house of worship which was constructed almost entirely by members of the church a short distance away from the school building. The church was founded a number of years ago by Walter Cunningham and has had a number of pastors.

Mr. Allison is a member of the Hoover Heights Tabernacle at South New Castle. The family will remain at their Prospect street address. The board of the Union Township church has gone on record to support a full time pastor.

'Assails High Operating Cost For State Relief

HARRISBURG, July 11.—(INS)—The high cost of operating Pennsylvania's vast relief program is a worry today to Senate minority leader John H. Dent, of Westmoreland.

He said Gov. John S. Fine, harassed in a drive for new tax money to round out a $1,200,000,000 budget for 1951-53, should scrutinize all unnecessary expenditures.

He pointed out during a free-wheeling attack on the state department of public assistance that in the biennium which ended May 31 the administrative cost was approximately 10 per cent of the 302 million dollars spent during the fiscal period.

He urged that general assistance rolls be returned to counties while the balance of the DPA's responsibilities be switched to the state welfare department at a saving of 25 million dollars a biennium.

Dent, who helped frame the original relief setup, said he was unable to understand expenditure of 302 million dollars for relief in the 1949-51 biennium which encompassed a time when employment was at an all-time peak.

Thirty-one million dollars for administration alone is too much," said Dent. "You can't spend that and have a sound economy."

"You can't ask the Senate to pass an income tax or any other tax until you delve into expenditures of the commonwealth," Dent said in an obvious reference to Fine's insistence that the Senate agree with the House to some substitute for the income tax spiked by Republicans in the upper chamber.

Dent assailed the DPA for allowing a "political hierarchy" to exist and said that field workers were interested in keeping case loads high to avoid furloughs handed out when the number of indigents on their list drops below a certain point. He recommended that legislation be adopted allowing local relief boards to publish the names of relief recipients and how much they receive.

He blamed the DPA for not tightening eligibility requirements and said that many itinerant workers imported into the state by farmers during peak crop and harvest seasons soon learn that they may stay in the state and draw relief aid from the DPA.

He called for the appointment of a "practical administrator" to take hold of the DPA and save the commonwealth "untold millions."

Sen. Duff Has No Plans To Visit Europe To See Eisenhower

WASHINGTON, July 11.—(INS)—Sen. Duff (R) Pa., said he has no plans to make a trip to Europe to see Gen. Eisenhower but that he would not rule out the possibility of such a visit later this year.

The GOP senator shares the view of other Republicans in the Eisenhower-for-president camp that the European supreme commander should not be embarrassed by any premature moves in his behalf. Duff's only comment on reports that he might go to Europe was that he has no such plan but declines to say he would not go at some future time.

TO BUY CHERRIES

WASHINGTON, July 11.—(INS)—The agriculture department announced today it intends to buy approximately 450,000 cases of canned red sour pitted cherries from the 1951 crop for use in the national school lunch program.

Officials said production of red sour cherries in the United States this year will probably reach 154,000 tons. A crop of this size would be the second largest on record.

THE FAMILY SCRAPBOOK

By DR. ERNEST G. OSBORNE

YOUTHFUL SOPHISTICATION

The group of high school youngsters was quite unconscious that anyone else was around. As they sipped their sodas, 17-year-old Bill was holding forth. "And so I informed my sainted, white-haired mother that her ideas were definitely out of date," he said.

Had I not known Bill and his family, I would have been sure that here was an impertinent young man who deserved all the things that critical adults might say about him. But Bill and his mother have a very fine and companionable relationship. He was talking to impress his companions as they were talking to impress him. And no one took it too seriously.

Growing youngsters have a need for feeling superior to other members of the family. It's a part of learning to think of themselves as self-sufficient persons. If they can take it out in sophisticated talk, so much the better. And one can be certain that a little later Bill will say something like, "Mom's okeh. She knows what a fellow feels."

Such "smart-aleck" talk and behavior can be irritating. But if we can understand what lies behind it, we can usually take it in our stride.

Greater Pittsburgh Airport Opening Reported Delayed

PITTSBURGH, July 11.—(INS)—Allegheny county commissioners were up in the air after learning that the county's greater Pittsburgh airport probably won't be opened for commercial flights until the fall of 1952.

Commissioners Harry Fowler and John J. Kane had thought the huge airfield would be ready for use this fall, but the Air Force has changed that.

At a meeting of county, Air Force and airline officials, United States district engineers said yesterday the airport's 5,500-foot east-west runway was inadequate and bids are being opened for paving a 2,500-foot extension. The job is expected to keep the field shut down until the end of June, 1952.

Kane said that the county is losing $100,000 a month as long as the new terminal building is not used and demanded "what happens to the operation of the airport?"

National Leaguers Win All-Star Game 8-3, Set Home Run Record

By CHARLES EINHORN
(L. N. S. Sports Writer)
DETROIT, July 11. — Doctors were busy today examining the head of the guy who made the American League a 7-to-5 choice in the All-Star game in the face of every form sheet and statistic ever invented.

Never before has baseball's mid-season classic run so absolutely true to scratch as the one that produced an 8-to-3 victory for the Nationals at Briggs Stadium yesterday. It was a victory so ordained that the big 52,075 crowd just sat on its hands and nodded in confirmation as the big boys blasted home runs into every place but the Detroit river.

Set Homer Record
The National League's four homers set a record for this game, as did the game total of six, but who was surprised?

Five National League hitters—Bob Elliott, Stan Musial, Ralph Kiner, Gil Hodges and Wally Westlake—figured to hit homers. Four of them did. Westlake probably would have, but he never got to bat.

Additionally, the American League, with the exception of its starting pitcher Ned Garver, was supposed to have pitching that was on the dismal side. With the exception of Garver, it did.

Sal Maglie was the winner of record, thought he tossed home runs to local lights George Kell and Vic Wertz. Actually, the giant N. L. pitcher was Don Newcombe who burned through three scoreless frames late in the game.

And the hero was neither a pitcher nor a home run hitter. He was little Richie Ashburn, the Phillies' centerfielder who doubled, walked, singled, scored two runs, made a stupendous leaping rob against the 415-foot sign of Wertz, and threw a man out at the plate.

Text Of Proposed Treaty With Japan Is Scanned

WASHINGTON, July 11.—(INS)—A text of the proposed Japanese peace treaty being circulated among the interested countries revealed today that it is aimed at restoring the former enemy to full status as a member of the family of nations.

It provides that the signatory powers, after the treaty comes into force, will support Japan's entry into the United Nations.

Economic, political and military restraints are being avoided and Japan will be permitted to enter into mutual defense agreements with other powers.

Defense Agreement
There have already been plans revealed for a bi-lateral defense agreement between the U. S. and Japan after the treaty comes into force and this agreement provides for the American occupation to continue until the Japanese are ready to defend themselves.

The State Department announced that the official text will be released at 10:30 a. m., EDT, Thursday.

Invitations are soon to be sent out to the interested powers to meet in San Francisco between September 4 and September 8 for formal signing. At the same time and place, it is expected that a mutual defense agreement among the U. S., Australia and New Zealand will also be signed. The draft of this agreement in final form is now being studied by the two countries and may become the basis of a general Pacific pact.

The treaty will come into force after it has been ratified by the United States and eight of the 14 powers represented on the Far Eastern commission with the exception of Nationalist China.

This will enable Japan, after a period of two or three years, to decide whether to sign a treaty with Communist China or Nationalist China.

About 5000 Words Long
The treaty itself is only about 5000 words long. This is due to the fact that many of the provisions of the earlier European treaties carried extensive clauses on remilitarization and the protection of human rights.

Because of the late date on which the treaty is to be signed, ratification by the U. S. Senate is not expected to come until after next January's regular session.

As previously reported, Japan recognizes the independence of Korea and drops claim to Formosa, the Kuriles and Pescadores islands, South Sakhalin, Antarctica and other smaller islands. The mandated islands, which Japan won after the First World War, will go to a U. N. trusteeship which the U. S. will administer. Japan will also be bound to honor any pre-war international treaties she had with any signatory power if the latter wants them revived. She will also bind herself to honor previous international fisheries agreements and renounce special rights and interests in China.

Reparations are abandoned except that Japan will lend technical assistance to countries requiring them as compensation for war damages.

The demands of Australia and New Zealand for compensation for mistreated war prisoners is met by allotting Japan's property in allied countries, which are not otherwise committed, under supervision of the Red Cross international committee.

Discover Cheaper Way To Make New U. S. Dollar Bills

WASHINGTON, July 11.—(INS)—Discovery of a cheaper way to make dollar bills today cost 300 workers their jobs at the bureau of printing and engraving.

The treasury announced the employees will be let out Aug. 10 because of a new printing procedure which will save the bureau one million dollars a year.

The process involves a new quick-drying ink, developed after years of research, which permits stacking of freshly printed sheets of currency without "blotting" them with slip sheets.

Coal is the major fuel for heating Veterans' hospitals.
